Political Science 304: Congressional Politics
(Spring 2015 Rutgers University)

Professor Sophia J. Wallace
E-mail: sj.wallace@rutgers.edu
Course Website: https://sakai.rutgers.edu/portal

Lecture: Tuesday/Thursday: 9:15-12:15pm in LOR-022
Office Hours: Wednesday 12:30-2:30pm Or by appointment in Hickman 603

Course Overview:
This course will provide a general survey of legislatures in the United States. The primary focus of this course will be the U.S. Congress. The purpose of the course is to learn about both the history and development of the Congress, but also the workings of the current state of Congress. The course will examine various internal (i.e. institutional rules and procedures) and external (i.e. elections, interest groups) dimensions of the Congress. In addition, a large segment of the course will focus on the policy process and examine the interaction of legislative branch with other political actors. The course begins with theoretical conceptions of representation and the historical development of the Congress. Subsequent topics include congressional elections, organization within the Congress, partisan politics, and case studies of recent policies.

Required Books:
Congress Reconsidered 10th Edition, Lawrence Dodd and Bruce Oppenheimer, CQ Press 2012

Course Requirements:
Students are required to take 3 examinations over the duration of the semester.
In-class examination #1 will be held on TBD and cover all material through the lecture of February TBD.
In-class examination #2 will be held on TBD and cover all material through the lecture of March TBD.
An take-home final exam will be due on TBD. This is the final exam date indicated by university schedule of final exams. The exam will be cumulative.

Attendance at weekly lecture is not mandatory but highly recommended since the class format will include lecture and discussion as well as a participation grade.

Grade Breakdown:
Exam #1: 25%
Exam #2: 25%
Participation: 15%
Exam #3 - Take Home Final: 35%

 Please note that in order to receive a passing grade in this course, all exams must be taken.

Grading Scale:

- 90-100% A
- 87-89.9% B+
- 80-86.9% B
- 77-79.9% C+
- 70-76.9% C
- 60-69.9% D
- 59.9 and below F

Procedures:

Attendance/Absences: Attendance is not required but is highly encouraged. A substantial portion of the overall course grade is from participation and it is necessary to participate in class to receive these points. Moreover, the exams will draw heavily from lecture material, therefore absences would result in difficulty in achieving maximum points on these assignments. If students are absent, it is his/her responsibility to obtain notes from lecture from a classmate. Lecture notes and power point slides will not be provided by the instructor.

Extensions: If you become ill or have some other emergency and cannot turn in or take an exam on the scheduled day, you must notify me ahead of time and provide documentation. Only after written confirmation from me that you can either turn in an exam late or take an exam at an alternate time without penalty, should you consider the extension granted. NO EXCEPTIONS.

Late Penalty: The late penalty is 10% per calendar day (each 24 hour period) after the due date. After three days (72 Hours), no late exams will be accepted nor will alternate exams be administered. NO EXCEPTIONS.

Laptops/iPads/Phones: Laptops and iPads can be used for the purposes of taking notes in class. However, due to the distracting nature of the screens, all students who wish to use a laptop must sit in the back rows of the class. Please note that checking email/social networking/websurfing/texting are not appropriate activities using your electronic device in class. Engaging in this type of activity will result in your inability to use such devices in class.

Students with Disabilities
If you have a documented disability that requires academic accommodations, please see me as soon as possible during scheduled office hours or after lecture. In order to receive accommodations in this course, you must provide me with a Letter of Accommodation from the Office of Disabilities Services, 77 Hamilton Street, 732-932-7896.

Participation Grading: Participation comprises 15% of the overall course grade. Students are expected to come prepared to discuss the assigned material. This means readings should be completed before the Wednesday class of each week unless otherwise noted by the instructor. Some of the readings are extremely challenging in terms of the concepts they introduce and the evidence they employ. Most of these articles cannot be quickly skimmed, meaning that students should budget appropriate time for reading and thinking through each article, as well as how they relate to each other. Participation will be evaluated on both the quality and quantity of comments from students. Moreover participation/performance in activities in class such as small group discussion, debates, pop-quizzes and simulations may also be factored into the participation grade.

Discussion Expectations
My goals for discussion are threefold:
1. Clarify any points of confusion from my lectures.
2. Discuss the main themes from the week’s readings.
3. Engage the literature by thinking critically about the theories and evidence confirming or disconfirming the arguments.

If we do all of the above, we have had a successful discussion.

Respect and Discussion Rules
Every student brings a different perspective to the classroom. Part of my job is to make sure that one viewpoint is not privileged over others. Dialogue in my class is expected to always be respectful. We all reserve the right to respectfully disagree with one another; we do not have the right to intimidate anyone.

Citations/Footnotes
In your papers or take home exams you must cite authors from whom you draw ideas/quotations. The typical style in political science is (Last Name, Year of Publication: Page) or (Winter, 1996: 118). Footnotes and endnotes are also acceptable ways of acknowledging work. In your exams it is a good idea to cite authors that we have in the course; page numbers are obviously not required. You can use any citation style you prefer as long as it an official style i.e. MLA or Chicago.

Plagiarism and Cheating
Plagiarism and cheating are serious offenses at Rutgers. The minimum punishment is the receipt of a grade of an F in the course.

What constitutes misrepresentation? Obviously, purchasing a paper from the internet is one way. Failing to give credit where credit is due—appropriating quotes from published authors as your own or representing authors’ ideas as your own—also constitutes plagiarism. For further information you can consult the university’s policy http://academicintegrity.rutgers.edu/files/documents/AI_Policy_9_01_2011.pdf

Per the policy adoption in September 2011 to promote a strong culture of academic integrity, students are required to sign on examinations and major course assignments submitted for a grade “On my honor, I have neither received nor given unauthorized assistance on this examination (assignment)”. Section II specifically discusses the definitions of cheating and plagiarism. If you are having trouble assimilating outside information into your own ideas or have any other questions concerning academic writing, see the Rutgers Learning Center, or come to my office hours.

Sakai & TurnItIn
Students are required to turn in written assignments in paper copy and electronic copy when noted on the assignment sheet. Failure to turn in both formats by the deadline, will result in a late penalty until both formats are submitted. Please be aware that the electronic copy is submitted to TurnItIn on the Sakai website. It is a software program that checks for plagiarism and other forms of academic dishonesty. All students are required to submit to this program. It is the student's responsibility to verify that the electronic upload to the Sakai site was successful and print a confirmation sheet indicating the time uploaded.

Readings

On average, the course readings per week will be approximately 120 pages. There are three primary required books for this course available for purchase at the Rutgers bookstore or online sources. If you elect not to purchase the books, there will be one copy of each book on reserve at the library.

In addition to the texts, there will also be various articles that will be assigned throughout the term. The electronic PDFs will be available for download from the course Sakai site under Resources under the appropriate weeks.

Office Hours, Questions & Email Policy

If you have any straightforward administrative or logistical questions not of a personal nature (e.g. readings for the week; location of exam, etc.) please consult the website. The website will be updated regularly and have the most up to date information. For substantive questions, please come to office hours. If your question is not an emergency, please wait until our next class meeting to ask me before or after class or come to office hours. Emails sent to me from students must contain PS 304 in the subject line to receive a response and responses may take up to 48 hours to be sent.

Please note the instructor reserves the right to change the syllabus.

Good luck and I look forward to a great term together!
