The European Summer Institute (ESI) is a joint educational venture between the MA Program in Political Science–United Nations and Global Policy Studies (UNMA) at Rutgers University, and the International Center for Development and Decent Work (ICDD) at the University of Kassel, Germany.

Rutgers University
M.A. in Political Science–United Nations and Global Policy Studies

The UNMA is a liberal arts degree program which provides students with an opportunity to learn about the United Nations and global public policy within an interdisciplinary framework. The UNMA enables students to become active researchers and practitioners in a rapidly expanding field of knowledge. Taught by a world-class faculty, the UNMA prepares students to pursue a variety of careers in sustainable development and the environment, human rights and international law, gender empowerment, conflict resolution, counter-terrorism and cyber security, public health, and socially responsible investment.

University of Kassel
The International Center for Development and Decent Work (ICDD)

The ICDD is a part of the Global Labour University, a global multidisciplinary network, which works with the International Labor Organization in the fight against global hunger and poverty. A University of Kassel academic center, the ICDD seeks to promote inclusive employment, decent work and economic growth. Focusing on improving employment and rural and urban development, against the backdrop of globalization and urbanization, the ICDD is a leading research institution in Germany.
Location: Study in Germany
Kassel is a lively city of about 200,000 inhabitants in the State of Hessen. It is a city which constantly shapes urban culture and art, and owes much of its fame to the legacy of the Brothers Grimm.

Kassel has one of Europe’s most palatial patio nurseries, the Bergpark Wilhelmshöhe (UNESCO World Heritage Site), and the Hercules landmark. Located in the heart of the country, Kassel is easily accessible from all major cities of Germany.

Instructional Excursions
Students will have an opportunity to participate in study trips and excursions:
- Brussels, Belgium (5 days) where they will study at the offices of the European Commission, European Parliament, European Trade Union Confederation and others;
- Berlin, Germany (2 days) with study at the Federal Ministry of Development Cooperation and visits to the Holocaust Museum and Museum Island;
- Visit with Syrian and other Middle Eastern refugees and German students at the Islamic Centre of Kassel

Courses
Rutgers students will have an opportunity to take up to two courses (6 credits) while in Germany, taught by professors of the University of Kassel and visiting professors from Rutgers University:

Foreign Economic Policy Making of the European Union
Dr. Frauke Banse (study at the EU in Brussels)

The Crisis of the European Union
Dr. Floris Biskamp

Gender Inequality and Public Policy in Latin America
Dr. Eleonor Faur

The Political Economy of Germany and its Implications for Europe and the World
Dr. Christoph Scherrer

The Political Economy of United Nations Sustainable Development Goals
Dr. Gulbahor Saraeva

Apply
All Interested students should apply on the Rutgers Center for Global Education website by March 1, 2018:
globaleducation.rutgers.edu

For more information, contact UNMA:
unma@polisci.rutgers.edu

Visit the UNMA website:
polisci.rutgers.edu/un-ma-program

Follow the UNMA FB page:
facebook.com/ma.globalpolicystudies/
and Twitter:
@RutgersUNMA

Connect with UNMA on LinkedIn:
linkedin.com/school/11166387